The Instruction Living the Life Your Soul Intended Interview Topics

In an interview or during an event, Ainslie MacLeod can discuss how and why:

- All your beliefs are the result of your soul's understanding of the world, and are limited by its age and experience.
- Your beliefs determine your behavior, meaning that the soul affects everything you do.
- Spirit guides are your link between this plane and the next, and are the source of virtually unlimited insight into who you are and why you're here.
- Proof of the soul's existence comes from observing its effects on human behavior.
- Your position on social and political issues is almost entirely the result of your soul's perspective.
- Reincarnation is the soul's way of building on its experiences of life on Earth.
- All of us are at varying points in our soul's development, making some souls older or younger than others.
- This variation in soul age, coupled with us all being one of ten soul types, is the source of our diversity.
- A person is on a particular soul level, reveal their goals, stumbling-blocks, lessons, and past-life influences, and point them in the direction their soul intended.
- Following your soul's chosen path is the key to living a life of contentment.
